

IDEA winner receives camera

Minot Air Force Base Public Affairs

12/22/2010 - MINOT AIR FORCE BASE, N.D. -- Mr. Mark Kauer, 5th Force Support Squadron manpower management analyst, along with Col. Clifford Stansell, 5th Maintenance Group commander, present a Nikon Coolpix camera to Tech. Sgt. Jamie Mikus, 5th MXG load standardization crew member, as the winner of the Air Force Innovative Development through Employees Awareness program fall promotional give away, here Dec. 21. The IDEA program is an incentive based program designed to solicit ideas that can save the Air Force time and money.

Mr. Mark Kauer, 5th Force Support Squadron manpower management analyst, along with Col. Clifford Stansell, 5th Maintenance Group commander, present a Nikon Coolpix camera to Tech. Sgt. Jamie Mikus, 5th MXG load standardization crew member, as the winner of the Air Force Innovative Development through Employees Awareness program fall promotional give away, here Dec. 21. The IDEA program is an incentive based program designed to solicit ideas that can save the Air Force time and money.(U.S. Air Force photo / Staff Sgt. Keith Ballard)